Fees

$200 for lecture and trunk show.

Vicky offers many project workshops for her quilts and techniques. Please contact for workshop requests and prices.

For engagements within 300 miles of Leavenworth KS, mileage fees will be at current IRS rate. Airfare from Kansas City International Airport (MCI) at best available rate, plus baggage fees. Overnight accommodations and meals, if applicable.

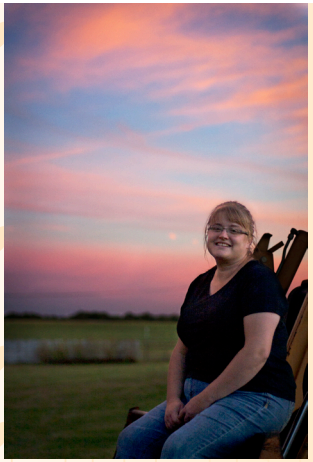

Availability

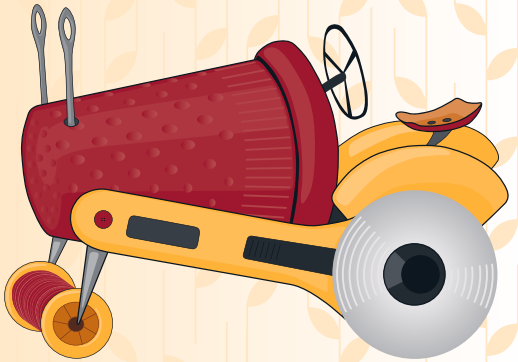

Alas! Not all the world is quilting. From Memorial Day to mid-July Vicky spends more time behind the steering wheel of a tractor than behind her sewing machine. She may have limited availability.

Contact Info

Call or email today to schedule!

thescrappyfarmer.blogspot.com
vicky_beasley@yahoo.com
913.219.4525

About Vicky

Vicky started quilting in January 2003. Her mom invited her to do a Saturday Sampler at her local quilt shop, then went back to the house to put the block together. She was hooked by that first completed block. The year it took to finish the quilt nurtured a deepened relationship with her mother and a passion of quilting. Her husband jokes that if he knew the firestorm of sewing that was going to be unleashed, he would have barred her from that first project. Either that, or bought stock in cotton!
Vicky and her husband have a farm west of Leavenworth, Kansas. They have one son.

the scrappy farmer LLC

Trunk Shows
Lectures
Workshops
Demonstrations
Tips
Encouragement

The Beauty of Scrap Quilting

Have you ever stared at your scrap pile and sighed?

Don't give up! And certainly don't toss those scraps! Let Vicky teach you how to turn a pile of scraps into a gorgeous quilt.

"My Kansas" designed and pieced by
Vicky Beasley, The Scrappy Farmer

The Scrapping Story

Vicky's passion is scrap quilting. She is more excited with a bag of scraps than yardage! 90% of the quilts she makes are made from left over fabrics. Her local quilt shop has a scrap bin with a price tag of "All you can put into a zip lock bag; $5." She has perfected the art of packing a bag.

She organizes her scraps by first sorting by genre, color, then size. For example, she keeps all Civil War Reproductions, batiks and novelties in their own bins. Each color has its own bin. Strips also go into their own drawer, further divided by width. Vicky also has a bin for strings, which are those wonderful leftovers from straightening a selvage, a wedge piece, or anything about 1.5".

Vicky looks at her stash to determine her next project. Is the string bin overflowing? Is she getting too much of 1 color?

What pattern has captured her attention? Having her scraps organized enables her to start a new quilt whenever she is ready.

You can do it too! Through her warm demeanor and patient teaching Vicky has already encouraged many quilters to turn their scraps into works of art. During her trunk shows she teaches all levels of quilters. From purchasing to planning, to making each stitch count, she will walk you through the steps of scrap quilting. Even seasoned veterans will walk away with new ideas and inspiration.

It's a simple contribution to "green living". It's affordable. It's fun!

Vicky Beasley
19355 Springdale Rd
Leavenworth, KS 66048
913.219.4525
thescrappyfarmer.blogspot.com
vicky_beasley@yahoo.com