About Liz

Liz Granberg-Jerome is a custom quilter, designer, and teacher. Her passion for quilting began in 2006, though she has been sewing and crafting since she was a small child. Liz has made a name for herself by creating the Hexified Panel Quilt, which is a twist on the One Block Wonder technique.

Liz lives in Baldwin City, Kansas, with her husband, Leslie, where they enjoy quilting alongside each other in their home studio.

Hexified Panel Quilts

After experimenting with Stack & Whack and One Block Wonder techniques, Liz gave them a twist to create Hexified Panel Quilts using seven panels. Six panels are turned into hexies that are color-flowed around the seventh panel. She has expanded to adding cubes or star surrounds in more recent quilts. She teaches a streamlined assembly technique to turn 60º triangles into no Y-seam pieced hexagon tops. Even novice quilters can make these one-of-a-kind quilts.

Hexified Panel Workshops

1-day workshop in-person or via Zoom: Using a single block and 12 sets of triangles pre-cut and ready to sew, make a small project in a day. Layering and cutting is demonstrated during the class.

2-day workshop: Using wall-hanging size kits or full panels of choice, this workshop takes you through layering, cutting, sewing, and construction.

Trunk Shows

In Person or via Zoom

Adventures with 60º Triangle Quilts: Follow Liz's journey creating One Block Wonders and her twist Hexified Panel Quilts.

Dancing with Thread: A trip through Liz's free motion quilting journey, building her skills as a sit-down DSM/HQSweet-16 quilter.

Think Small for the Wall: So many patterns, but don't need dozens of large quilts? Liz uses smaller projects to experiment with different quilt patterns.

Confessions of a Quilt Starter: UFOs, Orphans and More! New ways to look at shop-hop blocks and projects that just didn't go as planned.

Passion for Valor Quilts: Supporting our service men and women with quilts.
